

The Burning Bush—Online article archive

Cleric sad at Rome's refusal of Mass in Protestant Cathedral

As reported last month, the Dean of the Church of Ireland Cathedral in Dublin invited the Roman Catholic Archbishop of Dublin, Dr. Desmond Connell, to say Mass in his Cathedral. Now the poor Dean is sad because the Archbishop has snubbed him by refusing his invitation. Dr. Connell has said that the objections of some Church of Ireland members to the Dean's invitation is the reason for his refusal.