

The Burning Bush—Online article archive

Policeman Murdered

Reserve Constable
William Thompson

Charles Malachy Pollock of Jerusalem Street, Belfast was accused of the murder of RUC reserve constable William Norman Thompson.

The 39-year-old policeman, a father of two young children, was struck by a car on Upper Kennedy Way early on Saturday morning as he manned a vehicle check point. He died later in hospital. Pollock was remanded in custody until later this month.