Further evidence of perverts in control

The following article appears in the Belfast Telegraph of September 21, 2020.

It should be read and prayerfully noted by every Christian and we should all learn from it the direction that things are going in.

This 'pro-perversion' movement is no mere transient innovation or passing fad on the part of those who are slaves to that which is 'politically correct'!

No, it is the latest manifestation of humanity's departure from God and its rebellion against the order He has ordained.

Anyone who objects to these departures from what is natural and seeks to uphold God's ordinances will be summarily made to suffer the wrath of the perverted establishment.

As time passes, the consequences of that 'wrath' will become more severe until we see the fulfilment of Christ's words: "Yea, the time cometh, that whosoever killeth you will think that he doeth God service," John 16:2.

Students of the Bible will not be surprised at such a development. Sadly, all too many professing Christians seem totally bemused by such a development whereas the Lord has clearly warned us of such development!

It is the duty of those versed in the Bible's teaching prophecy to witness to fellow believers about what the Bible says regarding the times that are coming upon this earth.

Christ said: "And ye shall hear of wars and rumours of wars: see that ye be not troubled: for all these things must come to pass, but the end is not yet. For nation shall rise against nation, and kingdom against kingdom: and there shall be famines, and pestilences, and earthquakes, in divers places. All these are the beginning of sorrows. Then shall they deliver you up to be afflicted, and shall kill you: and ye shall be hated of all nations for my name's sake. And then shall many be offended, and shall betray one another, and shall hate one another. And many false prophets shall rise, and shall deceive many. And because iniquity shall abound, the love of many shall wax cold. But he that shall endure unto the end, the same shall be saved. And this gospel of the kingdom shall be preached in all the world for a witness unto all nations; and then shall the end come," Matthew 24:6-14.

So it will be!

School worker speaks of shock at dismissal over Facebook posts

Kristie Higgs is taking her former employer to an employment tribunal after she was sacked from her job at a school

By Rod Minchin, PA, Belfast Telegraph - September 21 2020 03:06 PM.

A Christian school assistant has spoken of her shock at being sacked for posting on Facebook about plans to teach LGBT relationships in primary schools.

Kristie Higgs, 44, was dismissed for gross misconduct by Farmor's School in Fairford, Gloucestershire last year.

The mother-of-two, from Fairford, shared and commented on Facebook posts which raised concerns about relationship education at her son's Church of England primary school.

Students were to learn about the No Outsiders in Our School programme, which is a series of books on teaching the Equality Act in primary schools.

Mrs Higgs was dismissed after sharing a post on Facebook (Christian Legal Centre/PA).

Mrs Higgs, who was posting on Facebook under her maiden name, shared two posts in October 2018 to around 100 of her friends.

In one Facebook post, Mrs Higgs urged people to sign an online petition against making relationships education mandatory.

In another, she shared an article about the rise of transgender ideology in children's books in American schools.

"I was concerned that a lot of parents all over the country and the world simply did not know what was going on," Mrs Higgs said in a statement submitted to an employment tribunal in Bristol.

"As a Christian, I believe it is morally necessary to speak out in defence of the Bible truth when false and harmful doctrines are being promoted."

She also shared a second post on the social media site (Christian Legal Centre/PA).

An anonymous complaint was made to the school and Mrs Higgs was suspended and later dismissed for gross misconduct following a disciplinary hearing.

Mrs Higgs told of her shock at being suspended from the school during a meeting with the headmaster, Matthew Evans, and business manager Sue Dorey.

"I remember saying to them: sorry to put you through this extra work, but what I posted is true – this is happening all over the world," she said.

"I was still shaking when I came home. I rang my dad and then rang my husband. Both of them were in shock. My boys were also in shock to know I was not going back to work."

Mrs Higgs explained in her statement her religious beliefs.

"I believe that God created mankind as 'male and female' and what he has created is good. He does not make mistakes," she said.

"I therefore do not believe in the modern ideas of gender fluidity and transgenderism. I did not think much about this issue until it was brought up in my younger son's primary school.

"I knew that there were cross-dressers and that the practice of cross-dressing had been expressly condemned in the Bible.

"People cannot change something that has been established by God, such as their identity as a man or a woman.

"I am aware that same-sex marriages are now recognised under UK law, but I believe that is contrary to God's law – which only recognises marriages between one man and one woman."

The Christian Legal Centre is supporting Mrs Higgs's case at the employment tribunal, which is being held in Bristol.

Lawyers representing Mrs Higgs will argue her sacking breached her freedom of speech and freedom of religion. Describing the affect upon her, Mrs Higgs wrote: "For a long time after those events, I was scared to go anywhere in the town.

"Many people who worked at Farmor's School would have known that I was dismissed for 'gross misconduct'.

"Fairford is small town, and I felt like everybody knew what had happened to me."
